"This is the perfect sales office for the City of Allen," said Robert Winningham, AEDC Executive Director, "the AEDC Board chose this location as it reflects the primary mission of the AEDC to attract business and industry that bring quality jobs to Allen."

Located on the northwest corner of Bethany and US 75, Allen Central Park is Allen's first Class A office project. Developed by Duke Realty, the first office building in the park is a five-story office building with upgraded finish out, extensive landscaping and covered parking. The AEDC joins existing tenants in the building, Patriot Bank, Halo Group, Trustmark Insurance Company and The Law Offices of T. Craig Friesland/Stewart Title Company. Duke plans to develop the remaining acreage in the park to Class A office, with four to six buildings planned.

The AEDC was established in 1992 when Allen voters approved a one-half cent sales tax dedicated to economic development projects. The AEDC is responsible for the recruitment of business and industry that add to the local tax base and bring quality jobs to the city. The corporation is governed by a five-member Board of Directors appointed by Allen City Council.
